FRANCE GETTING BACK TO NORMAL

Farms Being Cleared Up and Planted
Once More and Civilians Reappearing
—Trying to Trace Dead Soldiers—Soldier.

Camp de Souge, France, April 11.
—Same old weather yet, with plenty of rain and sudden showers. Crops are planted and up. Peas are up 8 to 10 inches and other crops in proportion. Everywhere we see houses that during the past three or four years have been neglected and the land overrun with weeds and brush being opened and the owners donning civilians in place of the horizon blue Vineyards are being fixed up and many a small home is putting on a sign of life such as we never before saw. Many of them, however, will never be opened up by the owner, who is sleeping up in northern France side by side with many a brave American. We are just beginning to see what France was and will be when the people again turn their attention to building up instead of destroying as has been the case during the past few years.

Even the stores are beginning to show a stock of new finery such as has been taboo during the war. Civilians, once a rare sight, are beginning to take the place of the blue uniformed soldier and things are beginning to slowly resume their before the war look. Automobiles, once seen on the street only on official business, are beginning to make their appearance with civilian drivers and taxis, etc., are becoming more numerous.

This evening I received a letter from some unknown person mailed in town, containing a bunch of clippings from the New York Tribune.
The efforts of the sender were appreciated but why the secrecy as to who it was? On one clipping was the note, "What has become of Suzie, we are anxious to know." Now I presume it was from some one who has read in The Freeman some of the extracts of my letters, some of which were not written for the public eye.
Suzie was fine last time I saw her (on my last trip to Paris) but after the war ceased she, like many other of the Parisians, went home to Paris.
The population of Bordeaux during the bombardment of Paris was about one quarter. Parisians who came south for safety. So I hope the anxious one won't be awake worrying.
The clippings were very good and quite interesting, too. I used to see a New York paper once in awhile but of late the fellow who got it has not been receiving it so I have missed a lot.

For goodness sake tell "Cap" to quit worrying about me. I want to get home all right but I like the rest. I came over with a song and a laugh.
I was going to stay until, "It was over over here" and I have not got cold feet yet. Just because some of the fellows are coming home I am not going to holler and cry because I am not the first over home. You must remember that there were about two millions of men over here and every one of us wants to be the first home—and the funny part of it is that some one of us will have to be the last one home, no matter how badly we want to be the first or how badly Uncle Sam wants us to be the first. I admit that I have been over a lot longer than a lot of the fellows who are now going home, still I am going to try and be game and stick out without a holler. I sure want to get home but "I won't come back till it is over over here." That was the spirit we came over with and if we are game that will be the spirit going back—"We did not go back till it was over over here" and if some of us are stuck a bit longer than we think necessary, why we know some one has been fortunate and drawn our chance. Some one else is just as happy to get home as I and so long as they are sending some one home I am not going to kick. But I want to see some one going home.
My time will come and, believe me,
it will be a grand day, when we get that "forward march" on the home stretch to Bordeaux or wherever we may be going. If I go direct, from here to the boat I bet I cover those 20 odd kilometers in good time, too.
I will probably have to oil the road between here and Bordeaux to keep it from getting hot once we get started headed toward the transport.

In one of the letters I received this evening I hear from a woman named Becker in Saugerties whose son was killed or died over here. He died in a hospital and she is very anxious to know just where. I will look it up, and try and at least find out where he was when he died. The records office will eventually send her word but if I can do anything to help her I will. It will perhaps be a great relief to her if she knows in what place he was when he died. If I can find that out it will be the least I could do for her.

Enlisted in Navy.

Two Kingston men have joined the U. S. navy at the 22d street, New York, recruiting station, the past week. They are William C.
Atkins, 29 Staples street, and Ralph
E. Dingman, 71 Elmendorf street.

Colored Boy Scouts.

There will be a meeting of the colored Boy Scouts, Troop 7, at the Boy Scouts headquarters on Tuesday, April 8. This meeting will began at 7:30 o'clock and Executive Margolis will be present.

Quite Right, Auntie!

Aunt Nancy listened with horror to the language of a fat old gentleman who had been forced to climb six flights of stairs to his office because the elevator wasn't running. "There,"
she said, "There is an example of what we may expect from a man who has had no 'brings' up."

THINK OF THE MONEY YOU CAN SAVE ON SHOES

Clarence J. Bloemer of St. Louis, Missouri, writes: "I have a pair of shoes with Neolin Soles and have used them for two years. I think they will last another six months."

Mr. Bloemer also recommends Neolin Soles for their comfort and waterproofness.

It is a remarkable fact that Neolin Soles cost no more than others that give only ordinary wear. You can get them on new shoes in many styles for men, women, and children—and they are available everywhere for resoling, too.

And look at the money you save—because you need fewer pairs of shoes with Neolin Soles. Remember—these soles are made by Science to be especially tough and durable. They are manufactured by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

THICK SEEDING COMMON MISTAKE

Is As Bad As Allowing Weeds to Grow in the Rows, Experienced Gardeners Claim.

A thick seeding of the garden when not followed by thinning has the same effect as allowing weeds to grow in the row say experienced gardeners. The individual plants do not require much space at first, but must be given more room as they become larger.

Thinning permits selection by discarding the weak inferior plants, and provides a uniform stand. When root crops are planted too thickly, the crops never develop to a good size which causes a low yield and poor quality. "When other crops are planted thickly they choke each other and none of the plants will develop properly."

Thin By Using.

The early root crops, such as bunch onions, beets, turnips, carrots and radishes can sometimes be thinned as used by removing the largest for table use and allowing the smaller to mature. Leaf lettuce, spinach or chard, if not very thick, also can be thinned as used by removing plants all along the row and not all from the same place.

For best results on most garden soils, the common crops should have the following distances between plants when they are nearly mature:
Lettuce (leaf) 6 inches, (head) 8 to 10 inches, radish 3 inches, turnip 4 inches, beets 4 inches, carrots 1 inches, onions (bunch) 1 to 2 inches, (dry) 2 to 6 inches, spinach 6 inches; chard 8 inches, tomatoes 24 to 36 inches, cabbage 20 to 30 inches.

The Great Pyramid near Gizeh, Egypt.

One of the most remarkable monuments ever erected is the Great Pyramid near Gizeh, Egypt. The weight of this pyramid or the length of time taken to erect it has never been satisfactorily calculated. It is seven hundred and sixty feet square at base by four hundred and eighty feet in height.

Modern tendencies in monument work are inclined toward simplicity and massiveness in design and construction. We are equipped to embody your own ideas of design in the memorial you seek to have built. Let us furnish you a design and estimate.

"Finest Apples I Ever Grew"

"The finest apples I have ever grown were sprayed with Pyrox. One year I thought I would save a little in the price, and was talked into trying 'something just as good,' but never again, for the crop that year was far from being as good as when I used Pyrox."—C. H. STOKES, Medford, N. J.
If you want the highest quality fruit, spray with

Pyrox

Pyrox is a smooth, creamy paste which is all ready to use by simply mixing with cold water. It sticks like paint and protects the fruit throughout the growing season. Pyrox is just as good for potatoes, tomatoes, currants, strawberries, etc., as it is for apples.

Get this Pyrox Crop Book. It tells how to protect your crop from bugs, worms and disease. Ask for a copy.

nothing but perjury and he did not worry about the case. Roberts swore they had been drinking at his place; all the other people's witnesses testified Byrd had been drinking liquor, and I want to ask you if a man could be in his right mind after drinking liquor. You must throw out Bailey's testimony. There is no testimony showing that that knife was used on Lawrence. Reference was made as to the oath taken by the jurors as to not having a prejudice against a colored man or a drinking man. All that is earthly of this man I give to you. I know what it is for you to have the life of another upon your shoulders. I ask you, will you save him on the testimony you have heard. I want no mercy, but on the testimony of Byrd, not been proven guilty of murder in the first degree beyond a reasonable doubt. I resign this defendant to your hands and I trust to your many hands and your Christian consideration to deal with him justly by your verdict. Mr. Grogan finished his summing up address at 2:52 p. m.

Prosecution Sums Up.

At 2:55 o'clock District Attorney Frederick G. Traver started his summing up of The People's case and seldom before in the history of criminal court in Ulster county has a more eloquent address been made to a jury in the prosecution of a murder case. Mr. Traver displayed fidelity and ability that has characterized him since he opened his case for The People at the starting of the trial over a week ago. Mr. Traver stated in opening his charge to the jury that perhaps Mr. Grogan was not a criminal lawyer and that he knew no tricks of the trade but it was an assured fact that he used and practiced them with great agility throughout his work for the defense. "Indoor sports" was the term given by Traver to the method of defense in denouncing a guilty defendant and trying to detract the minds of a jury by so doing. In answer to the accusation of the defense counsel in not producing evidence the ante-mortem statement of James Lawrence. Mr. Traver said that he considered it important and a required point in the law that the proper foundation be laid before this statement could be produced and that he had laid this foundation under requirements of law and that he did produce this statement but almost immediately withdrew it. It was at this time that the defense counsels would not admit whether they would object to this statement or not. In answering to the defense's accusation for not putting on the witness stand witnesses who had appeared before the grand jury Mr. Traver stated that it was his privilege to disregard testimony that after the formal investigation was of no importance.

Why Witnesses Not Called.

The defense objected to the district attorney stating why he did not put Fennelly, Forst and O'Neill on the stand but Mr. Traver stated that he would not use Forst as a people's witness because he was the man who struck the defendant while he was in custody and that sort of evidence would have been criticized by the defense's counsels as hostile to the defendant. At this time Mr. Traver surprised the court room when he opened the Byrd knife with one hand, after the defense had in his summing up defied any one to open that knife. It was the desire of The People to explain that the sudden end of the trial stopped the producing of the proof that James Lawrence was in possession of his mental faculties at the time that he made the ante-mortem statement.

As far as the defense was concerned, after their testimony was in, the district attorney asserted that he found nothing to rebuke and was satisfied to let the case rest for The People.

Bailey Exonerated.

He assured the jury that it was a proven fact of The People's case that James Lawrence died as a result of the stab wound which was inflicted on the night of February 6 while he, as an officer of the law, was performing his duty to the citizens of the city of Kingston. It was for them as jurors to decide who was the last man with Lawrence, Byrd or Bailey. He reviewed the Gray sisters' testimony on this fact and also referred to the testimony of Harvey, all of whom stated that Bailey only went up the drive about six or eight feet and then when he returned to the street he did not run but walked. The People, proved that Bailey was nowhere around when Lawrence shouted that he was stabbed and called for help. Mr. Traver asked the jury why Byrd ran across the lawn at the same time that Lawrence shouted he had been stabbed, and catch that man. The one fact that has been proved by a score of witnesses is that Byrd was the man who was arrested and broke loose from the officer. "Didn't he run like a man who had done such a thing?" asked the district attorney, following with the question, "Wasn't that knife found at the exact spot where Byrd was hiding?"

In their effort to prove Byrd drunk the defense has utterly failed, said Mr. Traver. From the first man that saw Byrd after he arrived in Kingston up to the last man who saw him in the city hall when he was locked up not one testified on the stand that he was so drunk he did not know what he was doing. The district attorney made it plain to the court that Byrd had accomplished a lot for a drunken man from the time he left Robert's saloon near Kingston Point until he was placed under arrest. The People produced witnesses that observed Byrd all along his line of travel in this city and no one thought he was drunk by his actions.

Over 25 witnesses sworn on the stand failed to say that Byrd was drunk on that night. Even the defense witnesses, Fennelly and O'Neill, stated that they would not say he was drunk but was dazed, and as Sergeant Philney defined it "more scared at his arrest than dazed." Byrd was at one moment so drunk that he did not know he was stabbing or resisting an officer but at the next moment he was making his escape in a fast manner down Broadway.

Ridiculed Alleged Drunkenness.

Mr. Traver made it plain on the part of the people to the jury that it was the idea of Byrd to put the officer out of business so that he could not re-capture him after he had made his escape. "He found a pretty safe place to hide for a drunken man didn't he," asked the district attorney. "He knew enough to take off his light colored hat to prevent detection in his hiding place, didn't he," also asked Traver. He told the jury that the old game of "You've got the wrong man" was practiced by Byrd after his capture. Byrd may have been drunk but of all the colored men rounded up that night he fully described Bailey and rendered the authorities the necessary information to capture him that night. Byrd also described Cunningham for the authorities and he was also arrested.

Mr. Traver produced the clothing that Lawrence wore on that night, thick clothing the heavy overcoat, thick vest and under uniform coat and asked the jury if it was the weak shaking hand of a drunken man that plunged that sharp blade into the body of the police officer. The length of the inner cut which shows longer than that on the outer skin indicates that the knife was plunged with a drawing cut and intent to kill was the only object of Byrd in effecting his escape. "He knew that Lawrence had a gun and a club," said the district attorney and he was not going to leave him in any condition to pursue or shoot him down after he had effected his escape.

Forethought or premeditation of the crime was defined to the jury by the district attorney as being present when Byrd opened that knife after getting it from his pocket unbeknown to the officer.

In closing Mr. Traver touched on Lawrence who was murdered in cold blood while performing his duties as a police officer and on that night Byrd was captured within five minutes after he stabbed Lawrence. The district attorney asserted that he admired the restraint which the capturers had used toward a man who had stabbed their friend and that in his opinion they gave him decent treatment. Mr. Traver defined as the reason of this treatment that these men who captured Byrd had confidence in an Ulster county jury.

Mr. Traver in closing his review to the jury of the people's case said, "By your verdict in this case do your part to see that hereafter the lives of policemen in the city of Kingston be as safe as possible." The summing up of the people's case took one hour and nine minutes. Mr. Traver resting the case with the jury at 4:04 o'clock.

Judge Fowler's Charge.

The opening his charge to the jury at 4:05 o'clock Judge Joseph M. Fowler complimented both attorneys for the people and defense upon the fidelity and ability shown in their presentation of their respective cases. The judge charged that the law must be taken from the judge in the final analysis and that the jury was the sole judges of the facts in the case. He impressed upon the jury that an indictment was not guilt and that by the defendant not taking the stand in his own behalf was no presumption of guilt. He also charged that a presumption of innocence prevailed until the defendant was proved guilty. He outlined the elements in the case including premeditation, deliberation, purpose, etc. The question that he laid before them as jurors were as follows: Was Lawrence killed by the defendant at the bar? Did he design to effect death, meaning intent to kill? Did the defendant premeditate or design or cast some reflection or thought in recollection of the blow? Did the defendant deliberate or have sufficient opportunity to think and choose and determine crime? Judge Fowler charged the jury that under the law intoxication was not an excuse for committing a crime but had a bearing in the case for under the law it is to be considered. The jury may consider in determining the intent of the defendant's motive but voluntary intoxication cannot be considered an excuse for crime.

On motion of the defense the elements were charged to the jury by the court and at approximately 4:52 o'clock the fate of Byrd was handed to the jury for their determination.

Industry United on Plan to Stabilize

ONE-PRICE PLAN FOR SEASON

Problem of Adjustment Put Up to Industry.

THAT the solution to the problem of adjusting business conditions is a question which industry itself must undertake is reflected in the avalanche of replies received to a letter recently sent out by the Lakewood Engineering Company, Cleveland, a communication of a few of which are shown herewith.

Believing that price is a most potent factor, this company announced its decision to make price periods of not less than six months, with a view of bringing about a common understanding between the producer or manufacturer and his consumer, and a definite establishment of confidence between the two.

New Price Revolution.

Irving Fisher, professor of political economy of Yale University, has written an article which was presented to the governors and mayors conference at the White House in Washington, in which he said, "Business must face the facts. To talk reverently of 1914-1914 prices is to speak a dead language today. The buyers of the country, since the armistice, have made an unexampled attack upon prices through their wailing attitude and yet price recessions have been insignificant."

It is interesting to observe that many manufacturers think that prices must come down, including the price of labor, but they are ready to denigrate to you that their own prices cannot come down, not can they pay lower wages. Almost everything they buy somehow costs twice as much as before the war and their belief is twice as dear. They cannot pay their labor if labor is to meet the increased cost of living. As a matter of fact when we investigate any individual item of the so-called high prices we are likely to find that the individual price is not high, that it is not high relatively to the rest. Every item seems to have lost the sense of value.

In the review of business conditions and subsequent to a war there is not one instance where prices have advanced to a previous level. The demand of this war have affected the United States less profoundly than any other nation participating. The production demands created by the war have expanded production with conse-

Product Prices Higher.
A short time ago a farmer asked a busy manufacturer for a price on a certain type of article. "I can't make it," returned the manufacturer. In truth, from the same factory at a price far below the quotation the farmer would have obtained the same article. The manufacturer, however, was not a busy manufacturer but a busy manufacturer of a certain type of article. "I can't make it," returned the manufacturer. The only economic solution for the problem of unemployment, the only way to obviate further unemployment is to overcome the present inertia by bringing into activity the enormous potential buying power, which we all know exists.

The only way for business to have people know what is good for business is to take the people into the confidence and get them thinking and acting on these things which are good for business. "LET'S GO"
If every person who reads this article will take up the slogan "LET'S GO" put it across and get everybody thinking, doing and going, everybody acting without waiting for someone else, nothing can stop America. No person, no business, no nation ever got anywhere by waiting on someone else. The successful one is the one who does.

for your old one, we will ship the buggy, and in addition will ship you a piece of household furniture and a kitchen stove.

It is a fact that the products of the farm can today be exchanged for between 15 and 30 per cent more of manufactured articles than ever before.

In the face of prosperous conditions obtaining in the retail stores of the country, the situation is somewhat difficult to analyze. On the other hand, these merchants are not replenishing their supplies, manufacturers are not buying their raw materials, foreign buyers in this country are holding back the orders which they came to place, awaiting a settlement of conditions, in the belief that there may be some recession in prices.

Action Necessary.
The only economic solution for the problem of unemployment, the only way to obviate further unemployment is to overcome the present inertia by bringing into activity the enormous potential buying power, which we all know exists.

Judging from replies to the suggested "one price for the season plan," industry itself intends to overcome this inertia. The replies come from every conceivable industry and from every state in the Union and they were 99.4 in favor of doing for themselves without waiting for someone else to set the pace.

It is the purpose of the National Prosperity Campaign, an organization with its headquarters at the Commodore Hotel in New York, supported by members of industries, to further this spirit through the trade and business press of the country.
The only way for business to have people know what is good for business is to take the people into the confidence and get them thinking and acting on these things which are good for business. The manufacturer is not a busy manufacturer but a busy manufacturer of a certain type of article. "I can't make it," returned the manufacturer. YANKEE FIGHTS PROPAGANDA IN PRISON CAMP

Plucky Sergeant Defies Notorious Von Tauscher.

TELLS OF LIFE AT RASTATT

Halyburton Finds Pro-Germans in Charge of Everything Within the Prison Confinement—Prisoners Organize and Force German Commander to Place Sergeant Halyburton in Charge of Camp—Beat Them at Own Game.

"The true facts on the life American prisoners were forced to lead in Germany are told by Sergt. Edgar M. Halyburton, Company F, Sixteenth Infantry, who arrived at Vichy, France, recently. Sergeant Halyburton was a prisoner of war in Germany for 18 months. He was the "commander" of the American prisoners at Rastatt and is qualified to describe conditions as they actually existed.

"I passed seven months at Tüchel," said Sergeant Halyburton. "It was a strafe camp and a hell-hole in every sense of the word. We were hatched in a wagon like horses and forced to draw wood 14 kilometers all day long. Dirty German guards were constantly insulting us at the point of bayonets. We wore wooden shoes and for socks we used a winding of fabric and paper. Scantily clothed and half-starved, we pulled our wagon through snow last winter that was above our knees.

Saved by Red Cross.

"There were 18 Americans in Tüchel. I had written postcards to the Red Cross from each town we had been in previously, but they could never have been sent for no answer was received until four months after we reached Tüchel. It was then (March 12, 1918) that the first Red Cross parcels arrived. These parcels saved our lives. If we had been forced to continue two months longer on the prison food and under the harsh treatment, I am certain most of us would have died of starvation."

Sergeant Halyburton and his comrades were transferred to Rastatt on August 14, 1918. There were approximately 550 American prisoners in the camp at that date. At the close of hostilities there were 2,400.

"Rastatt was a propaganda camp," said Sergeant Halyburton. "Pro-Germans were in charge of everything within the prison confines when we arrived. The noncoms, clerks, and billet chiefs were all working hand in hand with the propagandist leaders, the principal of whom was none other than Captain von Tauscher, the German propagandist that was implicated in the plot to blow up a bridge in Detroit, Mich.

(Captain von Tauscher was caught with a suitcase of dynamite. He was tried, but the jury failed to find "innocent," and released him. He was later ordered out of the United States.)

Pro-German Papers in Camp.

"Captain von Tauscher made several attempts to introduce the Continental Times and the American in Europe into Rastatt, but we told him point-blank we would stand for no German propagandist paper in the place."

When Sergeant Halyburton and his comrades first reached Rastatt they organized and demanded that the sergeant be given command over all the American prisoners. They were so persistent that the Prussian general gave his consent. Sergeant Halyburton immediately ousted the pro-Germans and replaced them with true American soldiers.

"We perfected a crude but efficient organization," said Sergeant Halyburton. "When the armistice was signed we had a hand-picked intelligence staff of 250 men working in the camp. All Yankees are known to be absolutely free from Prussianism. We beat the Hun propagandists at their own game. It was the duty of these men to preach into the ears of every prisoner the true facts on prison life in Germany and to teach every young Hun soldier that he met that it would be essentially better for him to surrender to the Americans when he got into action. The Yanks impressed them with vivid stories of kind treatment and wonderful food for every prisoner taken by our forces. We met many young Germans and I firmly believe our propaganda bore fruit among them."

Fought With Propagandists.

"We worked night and day to defeat the propagandists at Rastatt," said the sergeant, "and notify their work. If the army officials conduct an inquiry, I am positive they will obtain a great deal of surprising information on Rastatt and the careers of some of the blackened men that sojourned there."

Sergeant Halyburton interfered so much with the propaganda work at Rastatt that he was sent to Heuberg (Heiden) and confined in a "strafe" camp. Private Charles A. Goodrich, Company B, Eleventh Engineers, who served as his "adjutant," was sent with him. They were forced to do hard manual labor, insulted continuously and given insufficient food to subsist on.

Is Recommended for Promotion.

Sergeant Halyburton, when in Berlin, Switzerland, received the following commendatory letter from Col. W. L. H. Godwin, cavalry, the military attaché at the United States legation:

"Before you leave Berlin with the distinguished American prisoners I desire to furnish you with this statement to make record of your services while a prisoner of war in Germany.

"Captured on November 3, 1918, under circumstances which were absolutely beyond your control, your whole conduct from that time until your release in December, 1918, reflects credit upon yourself and the regular army to which you belong.

"In Tüchel your conduct saved your comrades from the worst that that filthy hole inflicted. You organized them and controlled them under great difficulties, and you even succeeded in forcing recognition from the German authorities. I shall report all I have learned in this case to the commander in chief, and shall recommend you for a commission in the United States army. I should be glad to have you as an officer in any organization I might command."

REIMS HOSPITAL TO

BE YANK MEMORIAL

French Government Will Dedicate Ground Upon Which It Is to Be Erected.

Overlooking the 15,000 roofless houses of Reims and overshadowed by its battered cathedral will stand the first great memorial to the American dead in France. This seems assured by the official advice that have reached the Paris headquarters of the American fund for French wounded to the effect that the French government will devote to the fund ground in the environs of Reims; on which a great American hospital will be erected.

The sum of $100,000 for the purpose has been guaranteed by the American fund organization in the United States. What remains to be accomplished is the raising of an endowment fund for the hospital. This will be achieved by perpetual endowments of memorial beds by individuals. Offers of money for such beds are already reaching the headquarters of the fund from Americans at home and in France. Mrs. Benjamin G. Lathrop, the president of the organization, will sail soon for the United States in pursuance of his plans.

The American hospital at Reims will not only constitute a monument to the thousands of American soldiers lying buried throughout the battle areas of France, but is intended also to be an enduring reminder that America had brought relief to France even before the American armies arrived.

HUNS USE HUMAN BONES

Returned Prisoner Says They Were Employed in Phosphorus Factories.

Human bones from the battlefields were used by the Germans in their phosphorus factories at Dittelfeld, according to Private Fred Rugg of the famous artists' rifles, who has just returned to England after imprisonment at a camp near Berlin.

"I was put to work in a phosphorus factory tipping bones out of wagons into chutes," he said. "I didn't need a surgeon's eye to tell that they were human bones. German workmen said that the bones came from a human corpse factory. Larger consignments always arrived shortly after heavy fighting at the front."

RAT-KILLING CONTEST

An Absolutely New Indoor Sport Started in Omaha.

Hundreds of intensely interested spectators crowded the horse sale pavilion of the Union stock yards at Omaha, Neb., to witness a rat-killing contest, an absolutely new indoor sport in that city.

In the first event 20 big husky rats, the kind that infest the stock yards, were turned into a pit. An English coach dog, belonging to Col. Henderson, one of the employees of the yards, was turned into the pit with the rodents. And in the short time of 9 minutes and 15 seconds succeeded in dispatching them all.

CENTURY OLD HOMES

Houses That Were Put Up in 1803 Are Still in Use.

One of the oldest residences in Arkansas is located at Mount Olivet on the Landreth brothers' farm on White river. It was built in 1803 by Jehoda Jeffery, great-grandfather of Richard Jeffery, who now lives here. The house was constructed of heart pine logs, which are apparently as sound today as when they were laid. It still is used as a dwelling. Another house constructed in this year is located at Norfolk in Baxter county. It was built by Major Jacob Wolf and is owned by his descendants.

Misfortune Follows Family.

Misfortune has been following the family of C. B. Frederick of Hickorytown, Pa. Russell Frederick had one of his fingers cut off at work. Mr. Frederick and his son Clyde were working on Germantown pike when a lamp dropped from the car. Clyde jumped out before the car stopped and was thrown heavily. He sustained a fracture of the skull. News had just been received from another son, John, a sergeant with the American army in France, stating he is in a hospital recovering from injuries received when a bullet killed him in the face.

First Thrift Day.

The first "thrift day" in America was August 11, 1917. That was the first time one special day was ever officially set aside for the purpose of encouraging attention to thrift. The day was celebrated in California as "thrift day" in response to a proclamation of Governor Johnson. The occasion marked the opening of the thrift campaign, held at the Panama-Pacific exposition by the American Society for Thrift.—Thrift Magazine.

The report of the postmaster of Washington shows that his city post office did more business during the year ended June 30, 1918, than all the post offices in any one of 25 states of the Union. The receipts for the year were more than $5,000,000, and the states that produced a smaller amount of postal revenue were Arizona, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Maine, Massachusetts, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia and Wyoming. The total receipts were an increase of over $3 per cent over the previous fiscal year.—Utah Press.

Edward's Best Thought.

Little Edward disliked to attend school, so one morning he thought he would play off sick.

"What is the matter with you, Edward?" asked the mother. Not knowing a whole vocabulary of ailments to which to turn, on the verge of the morning he replied: "Aisy, my teeth itch."

Peculiar, Canadian River.

What is perhaps the most wonderful river in the whole world, and one which is certainly unique of its kind, was discovered by a party of prospectors exploring what is known as the "Smoky River Region" in northern Alberta, Canada. Briefly, it is a river of mud—that is to say, although its course is well marked, with banks clearly defined, as in an ordinary river, its bed contains not water, but thick liquid mud of the consistency of molasses. The mud river flows, as does a water river, but, of course, much more slowly. In fact, its progress during the time the party were observing it more nearly resembled that of a glacier. Unlike a glacier, however, there is no terminal moraine. A glacier at its foot melts and flows away, leaving an accumulation of rocks, but this heavy mass that may be in this river mud must settle to the bottom and remain concealed by the mud itself. This mud river debouches on a plain spreading out fanlike and forming a moraine of unknown depth and extent.

COMPENSATION CLAIMS HEARD

There were a number of claims before Deputy State Industrial Commissioner Abbott for a hearing at the supervisors' room at the court house today, mostly from out-of-town claimants. Two claims were to establish the extent of facial disfigurement by Anna Sparling and Jacob Best of Esopus, who had been employed at the American Grenade Loading plant, Port Jervis at the time of the explosion. There is nothing in the compensation act covering extent of facial disfigurement and the matter is therefore brought before Commissioner Abbott to determine. The Travelers Insurance Company holds the insurance. In the other five cases the Liberty Mutual Co. is interested in two and the Employers' Liability in three.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity

Patrick Hannigan, a life long resident of Marlborough, died at his home there April 28. He is survived by his wife and four children, Frank, Theresa and Daniel, of Marlborough, and Mrs. Lawrence Gaffney of New Paltz, besides two sisters and one brother, Mrs. M. Downer of Marlborough, Mrs. P. Walsh, and James, of Newburgh.

The funeral of Charles G. Cooper, of 147 Green street, was held from the family residence at 8:45 o'clock this morning, thence to St. Joseph's Church, where at 9 o'clock a Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul. Many friends were present, among them lawyers and court attendants, who knew Mr. Cooper for years. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

John J. Cashin, one of the most widely known residents of Kingston, died this morning about 10:30 o'clock at his home, No. 3 Hasbrouck avenue, after an illness lasting about two years, aged about 36 years. He is survived by his wife, and four children, Angela, Mary, Edward and Robert, his mother, Mrs. R. J. Dwyer, one brother, Edward, Cashin, and one sister, Miss Angela Dwyer. The funeral will be held at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning from the late residence and at 10 o'clock from St. Mary's Church, where a solemn High Mass of Requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery. Mr. Cashin was a staunch Democrat and for years figured actively in local politics. He served the Sixth ward as alderman for several terms, and later was elected supervisor of that ward. Before overtaken by illness which confined him to his home for the past two years he was the Democratic leader of the Sixth ward and was always sure of polling a large vote whenever he ran for office. He was also instrumental in large measure in keeping the ward in the Democratic ranks for years. As alderman and supervisor he always had the interests of his ward at heart and saw to it that his ward was not neglected in the matter of improvements. For years he conducted a cafe on the Strand and in later years was a soda water manufacturer with a plant on Ann street. Mr. Cashin had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances and the news of his death spread rapidly.

Paul Nichols for many years the well known hotel proprietor of Windor Lake House at Greenfield, New York, died at the home of his son, Albert Nichols, at Chicago on Friday, April 25. After an illness following an operation which was performed in the hospital at Rochester, he came to this section about thirty years ago and purchased the property upon which he took down a small house and erected Windor Lake House of Addition. Stratton and later purchased of Mr. Stratton the fine farm so well known as the Orchard Hill farm, which Mr. Stratton then occupied. Mr. Nichols successfully conducted a summer boarding house for several years. A few years ago the house burned and he with Mrs. Nichols continued to occupy a house opposite which was their winter home. The past two winters they have spent with their son at Chicago and Mr. Nichols submitted to the operation with a view to improving his health. The funeral was held at this son's home, and the body was brought to Lowell, Mass., for interment. He was a resident of New York city and engaged in business before coming to Greenfield to reside. He was well and favorably known and a large circle of friends throughout this section mourn the death of deceased. Surviving are his wife who before marriage was Miss Katherine Jones of New York, two sons, Albert of Chicago and Royal of Illinois, two daughters, Carolyn, wife of Dr. Charles Kohler of Brooklyn and Agnes, wife of William J. Epper of Cattenburg, N. J., and several grandchildren. The family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 3.—Although price movements were irregular at the opening of the stock market today, the tone as a whole was one of pronounced strength. There was a good demand for steel common, which moved up $\frac{1}{8}$ to 98 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. While Baldwin rose 1 point to 93 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, Westinghouse was unusually active and strong, moving up over 2 points to 54 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, the highest price touched by that issue in a long time. Atlantic Gulf, after opening $\frac{1}{2}$ lower at 149 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, advanced to 150 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. Royal Dutch New York was in supply, yielding $\frac{1}{2}$ to 106 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, while C. S. Rubber started $\frac{1}{2}$ lower at 99 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. The railroad issues were fractionally higher.

The market closed steady. Westinghouse was active and strong, moving up to another new high of 54 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. Steel common after selling at 99 $\frac{1}{2}$ %, reacted to 98 $\frac{1}{2}$ %. LOAN WORKERS

Omitted in First List of Those in Third Ward.

Through an oversight in making out the list of workers in the Third Ward in the interest of the Victory Liberty Loan the following workers were omitted:

Navy Starts Loan With $5,000 Volley

Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, has started the Victory Liberty Loan campaign in the navy with a $5,000 subscription. In the last four weeks there was been rivalry between the Army and the Navy in the matter of getting up a big quota. This $5,000 subscription by Secretary Daniels puts the Navy in the lead in this campaign.

"MATCH THE NAVY" is the challenge the Navy sent out to the people of the United States in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, and then promptly proceeded to subscribe $48,000,000 at the rate of more than one million dollars a day.

"MATCH THE NAVY" is the challenge it again throws to the country, and to a man the Navy is prepared to stand behind its splendid record in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Liberty Loan drives.

And it is now appreciated that the Germans have a long way to go before they come out of this war experience as even a half-way decent nation.

Militarism as a world menace in Germany is gone. Doctor Taylor believes. He found sufficient evidence to satisfy him that the German army of the old days is a thing of the past, and to a man the Navy is prepared to stand behind its splendid record in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Liberty Loan drives.

MILITARY DEFEAT HAS WROUGHT NO CHANGE OF HEART IN GERMANY

Dr. Alonzo Taylor Investigates Conditions in Land of Hun—Same Old Gang in Government Offices—Take Attitude That They Are Much Abused Nation—Believe Themselves Guilty of No Misdeeds.

By LLOYD ALLEN.
Western Newspaper Union Staff Correspondent.

Paris.—That Germany has experienced no change of heart as a result of her military defeat is the message Dr. Alonzo Taylor has just brought to Paris after three weeks in Germany, where he inspected the food supply, the stocks of raw materials, briefly, and made a remarkably concise survey of the political and economic situation.

Probably no one in America was better fitted to size up Germany than Doctor Taylor.

While America was neutral, during those first months of the great war, Taylor was traveling through the length and breadth of Germany inspecting the allied prison camps. He was attached to the American embassy. He gained, during the days before we were in the war, an intimate knowledge of German war methods, German official procedure, German intrigue, German lies, German cruelty, and came to know all about the condition of economic Germany.

You would never pick Taylor out of a crowd as one of our leading Americans, because he does not look like a statesman, a college professor, a political economist, or a diplomat—and he is all of these things.

When he hurried out of Mr. Hoover's office in the Hotel de Crillon, on his return from Germany, Taylor started, without a pause, to get into the heart of his talk with a group of American newspaper men that had assembled to learn the truth about the Germans. He actually talked one hour and forty-five minutes. He answered half a hundred questions.

"Some Old Gang."

"They've got the same old gang in the government offices at Berlin that we knew before and during the war," Taylor began. "Some kind of a revolution actually started in Germany before the armistice was signed. For the time being that revolution is being held up. The politicians are bending every effort to get a governmental machine working smoothly, in order to present some kind of a solid front to the allies when the time comes to settle the final peace terms. While the government is shaping itself the old civil servants are being kept in the government offices. The men in control do not intend taking untrained men into the government, because they have the concrete example of the failure of the Russian government that took untrained officials into the government machine. The Germans in control won't allow Germany's government to fall to pieces like the Russian government."

As soon as peace is actually declared the Germans will start out settling their internal difficulties and can be expected to introduce many socialistic reforms—possibly the socialization of many of the leading industries, such as the large factory groups and the coal and potash and iron mines.

In the meantime, the men in control at Berlin are endeavoring to get their people back to work, back to the industries and nonpolitical ways of 50 years ago before the militaristic crowd started preaching world conquest and "kulturation" of the globe.

Militarism is gone.

and it appears from rumor that some of the men on the eligible list have not resided in Kingston the required two years before taking the examinations.

It may mean that another eligible list may be called for by the police board, and that, of course, means that the civil service board will have to hold another examination, although nothing definite could be ascertained about the matter.

Railroad Men Outrank the Men of the Sea for Their Various Odd Superstitions

The superstitions of railway men are so numerous that even the sailor, who is generally credited with being the most "superstitious" man in the world, must needs take second place.

London Tit-Bits states: In Russia, when a woman is the first to enter a train, bad luck is sure to come unless the next two persons to enter the same compartment are men.

Friday, the 13th day of the month, black cats, cross-eyes, mirror breaking, lightning, coach numbers and their variations, and the weather are a few of the fantastic superstitions of railway workers.

Many drivers will not commence a journey without a flower in the buttonhole, usually a white one, or a white ribbon. Others wear a peculiar button, the insignia of their fraternal orders, and even a piece of red string, often almost invisible.

A left-handed freeman or driver is looked askance at by some railway men and as a lucky companion to others. In some cases transfers to other runs have been asked because such an individual is given a berth, while others request to be given a place by a left-handed or ambidextrous person.

As for travelers, burning coffee after breakfast is better than an accident policy, while winding one's watch on the train means a safe journey. Putting a wisp of straw in one's trunk or bag protects it from injury and loss.

If dust blows in one's eyes while in the train it means good health for a year; if it blows while going to the train it is a sign of accident.

A general superstition among railway men is that when one leaves his home to go to work he must not return and go indoors for something he has forgotten. Should he have to do so, the bad luck to follow will be nullified if he sits for even a second in a chair and lifts his feet from the floor.

Wisconsin Village of 350 Persons Issues Bonds and Builds Its Own Railroad

If you haven't a railroad to your farmhouse door, build one! That's what the farmers of one locality have done. No longer is Ettrick, a town of 350 inhabitants, in isolation ten miles from the nearest railroad and without adequate outlet to the trade markets.

For Yankee pluck has again triumphed over all obstacles and citizens of that township in Trempealeau county proudly survey the ten-mile railroad they recently finished building.

Ettrick wanted a railroad and the companies declined to build one. So, in spite of war conditions, the citizens financed the $300,000 project by a $175,000 bond issue and the sale of stock in the ten-mile branch line.

Then they built it. Labor was not available, so the banker and butcher, doctor and merchant, old, middle-aged, and young men, worked Sundays, week days and holidays, morning, noon and night, and finally themselves completed the little railroad.

Since January, when it was finished and connected with the Green Bay & Western at Blair, 34 cars of grain, many cars of stock and other products have gone by rail from Ettrick. The Green Bay & Western supplies the equipment.

THE STRONG

Deed deem him weak that owns his strength in trial? Nay, we may easily lean on him that grieves: The pine has immemorially sighed, The enduring poplar are the trembling leaves.

To feel, and bow the head, is not to fear; To cheat with feet—that is the coward's art; Beware the laugh that battles back the tears; Be's false to all that's truer to his heart.

He of great deeds doth grope amid the thorns; Like him whose steps toward Dagon's temple bent; There's ever something and about the strong; A look, a mean, like that of ocean's shore.

When Number Is Divisible by Four It Is Leap Year

Leap year is a year which leaps over, as it were, one day more than an ordinary year; a year which contains 366 days, as distinguished from an ordinary year, which includes only 365 days. Every year the number of which is divisible by four is a leap year, except when it happens to be any number of hundreds not divisible by four.

Thus 1904 was a leap year, but not 1900, this omission being necessary to correct the error which arises from the excess of the addition of one day to the year over the true length of the year, i. e. 365 days

Indian Tailor Bird.

A very curious nest is made by the tailor bird of India, a tiny yellow creature. To escape snakes and monkeys this bird takes a dead leaf, flies up into a tree, and with a fiber for a thread and its bill for a needle sews the leaf to a green one hanging from the tree. The sides are sewn up, an opening to the nest thus formed being left at the top. The leaf, apparently hanging from a twig, would never be taken for a nest.

Unlucky Thirteen.

A correspondent suggests that the origin of the "unlucky thirteen" superstition is to be found in the casting lots by Hannan to discover a "lucky day" for the destruction of the Jews. The 13th was certainly a most unfortunate selection in this case, and the story was so popular in the middle ages that it may really have given rise to the superstition.

SCHOOL 8 WON ATHLETIC CUP

Donated by Charles Warren to Best Girl Athletes From Grammar Schools—No. 6 Class Second.

Friday afternoon at the girls' athletic meet held in the High School gymnasium, School No. 8 won first place and the loving cup offered by Charles A. Warren. There was a large attendance from this school and number helped a great deal. School No. 6 was a very close second.

The first event was the potato race. This was an interesting race as each contestant had three potatoes in a box. One potato was taken out and placed in a nearby circle, then the second was placed in another circle and so on. Then the potatoes had to be returned to the box one at a time. Ten potatoes were blocks of wood.

Miss C. Van Vleet of School No. 8 won first place in this race with a time of 24 seconds; Miss H. Storm of School No. 1 won second place and Miss A. Van Stenburgh of School No. 6 won third place.

The second event was the standing broad jump. Miss G. Rice of School No. 8 won first place with a jump of 6 feet 11 1/2 inches; Miss M. Soule of School No. 1 won second and Miss Nellie Fields of School No. 6 won third place.

The third event was the baseball target throw. Those who made five points out of fifteen in the throw were given extra trials. The highest score out of a possible 25 points was taken to award the prizes. Miss J. Lewis of School No. 8 won first with fourteen out of twenty-five points; Miss S. Elmendorf, School No. 6, won second place; Miss E. Hayes, School No. 9, won third place.

The relay points race ended the events. There were six girls from each school on a team. First place was captured by School No. 8 and second place by School No. 6 and third by School No. 5.

First—School No. 8 Relay Team: Captain Clara Sallouche, Vera Van Stenburgh, Alaud Ludley, Marion Beekle, Beatrice Brethaupt, Frances Dederick.

Second—School No. 6 Relay Team: Captain Alice McLaughlin, Genevieve Whipple, Muriel Kniskern, Gladys Hopper, Jeanette Lewis, Anna Taylor.

Third—School No. 5 Relay Team: Captain Helen Daudner, Louise Garrison, Loreta Bowers, Mary Helman, Dorothy Dawe, Sophia Goldberg.

This is the order and standing of the schools as they finished in the meet:

Place	Participants	Points
First—School No. 8	549.43
Second—School No. 6	456.84
Third—School No. 4	1595.1
Fourth—School No. 7	1591.2
Fifth—School No. 2	1483.7
Sixth—School No. 3	773.4
Seventh—School No. 5	140.6

This meet was under the supervision of Messrs. Bailey and Dillingier. Officials of the meet were:

Referee—N. H. Dillingier.
Chief Scorer—S. P. Hines.
Starter—A. W. Bailey.

Timers and Judges—Roger Gillson, Loughran Smith, S. P. Hines, N. Dillingier, Albert Toewiller, Wilson Norwood, L. Flowers, Grace Lounsbury, Muriel O'Leary, Marian Heffernan, Anna Smith, Estelle Rogers.

All returned soldiers and sailors of the place are most cordially invited to be present at the service in a body, to wear uniform if possible. There will be two addresses given, one by Judge Frederick Stephan of Kingston, and Benjamin D. Vorse a returned Marine of the 34th Company, Sixth Marine, will tell the great and thrilling story of the great victory of the Marines. There will be patriotic hymns and anthems and Mrs. E. E. Simpson will favor the audience with a special solo. Surely this will be a rare treat for the people of Port Ewen and they will want to avail themselves of this treat and be present.

Sunday at the Methodist church will be a big day as the entire day will be observed as Victory Sunday. The people of this town and section are of this belief and will do well to mark the day in their hearts and minds. There will be a very good program, and people will do well to be present and to be happy and enjoy the day.

Warren K. Van Vleet intends opening up a fish and vegetable market on Broadway very soon.
